

Chief Subeditor

We are looking for an experienced production journalist to work with the production editor, the editor and a small team of journalists to maintain The Tablet's high standards of accuracy, clarity and design across a weekly news magazine and a digital platform.

You will have substantial experience of the subediting process, including headline writing, maintaining house style, using correct grammar and punctuation, improving copy and having an eye for legal concerns, all under pressure of deadline. You will manage a small team of freelance subeditors. You will have experience of page layout and process management, and will deputise for the production editor in their absence.

You will be proficient in QuarkXPress and InDesign, with a good knowledge of Photoshop. Experience of using content management systems and implementing SEO practises would be an advantage.

Home working is supported but, circumstances allowing, you will primarily be based in our west London office. The post will normally be for three to four days per week. Salary will be commensurate with skills and experience.

Please send your CV and a covering letter to thetablet@thetablet.co.uk.

Closing date: Wednesday 6 April 2022

Dorothy Day and Gospel nonviolence

We are all consumed with grief and concern about the Ukrainian tragedy. What would Dorothy Day, the co-founder of the Catholic Worker movement and one of the great peacemakers of our time, have made of this and other contemporary conflicts?

Join her granddaughter Martha Hennessy for a discussion of Dorothy Day's ideal of Gospel nonviolence.

Martha has travelled to Russia, Egypt, Iraq, Iran, Afghanistan and Palestine to understand the effects of war on ordinary people, and has been arrested and imprisoned for protesting against nuclear weapons, the torture of prisoners, and the use of starvation as a weapon of war in Yemen.
