

Chief Subeditor

We are looking for an experienced production journalist to work with the production editor, the editor and a small team of journalists to maintain The Tablet's high standards of accuracy, clarity and design across a weekly news magazine and a digital platform.

You will have substantial experience of the subediting process, including headline writing, maintaining house style, using correct grammar and punctuation, improving copy and having an eye for legal concerns, all under pressure of deadline. You will manage a small team of freelance subeditors. You will have experience of page layout and process management, and will deputise for the production editor in their absence.

You will be proficient in QuarkXPress and InDesign, with a good knowledge of Photoshop. Experience of using content management systems and implementing SEO practices would be an advantage.

Please send your CV and a covering letter to thetablet@thetablet.co.uk.
