The Tablet Readers' Appeal

We are now in the penultimate week of this year's campaign to raise funds for The Tablet Trust Development Fund. The money raised is being devoted to projects designed to secure the future of the The Tablet for future generations.

These are extraordinary times for the Church and for the world. Our editorial this week looks at the crisis in the Middle East, we report on tensions between the Vatican and the German bishops over the speed of reform, and Christopher Lamb writes from Rome where talk of schism is in the air. It is the usual weekly mix of accurate and timely reporting, insightful analysis and good writing. Over and over again you have told us that in a time of change and confusion, The Tablet is a lifeline. It is a responsibility which we take very seriously.

As we bring our fundraising efforts for 2019 to a close, we thank you again for your support and friendship. More background on the development fund and all the projects you are helping to finance can be found at www.thetablet.co.uk/developmentfund
